

Intrigo Systems CEO at the ANT Wireless Symposium

FREMONT, CA— SEPTEMBER 21, 2017 — Intrigo Systems, a leading provider of enterprise and cloud solutions in e-commerce, supply chain and procurement in the dynamic SAP ecosystem, is honored to announce its CEO, Padman Ramankutty will be speaking at the ANT Wireless Symposium being held at the Rimrock Resort Hotel in Banff on September 26-29, 2017.

The Symposium is the ideal conference to explore the technical and commercial possibilities of ANT and ANT+, share and learn best practices, explore business opportunities, gain valuable technical training and connect with thought leaders in the IoT ecosystem. “It is an honor to join my peers in a four day conference and to have the opportunity to educate the audience in a lively discussion around how IoT is impacting the supply chain process,” said Padman Ramankutty, CEO of Intrigo Systems.

Mr. Ramankutty will be addressing the audience with a session entitled Process, Models and Data: How the Internet of Things Drives the Fourth Industrial Revolution under the track of Business Not As Usual at 11am on Thursday, September 28th.
